DOING A GOOD WORK.

MEN WHO OWE THEIR SUCCESS TO THE MECHANICS INSTITUTE.

MANY EXPRESSIONS OF GRATITUDE.

Extracts from Letters Setting Forth the Benefits Acruing to Young Men from Attendance on the School of Technology.

Probably one of the most deserving Institutions in this city, and one about which comparatively little is known by the general public, is the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, a night-school for the education of boys and young men who by force of adverse circumstances are forced to begin work ere they have been afforded an opportunity to secure an eduention.

The Virginia Institute started its night-school of technology in October, 1884, and has, done a great work. It had in the beginning a corps of six instructors, and has added to its curriculum each year as required, new instructors, until now it has twenty. This, however, has been retarded for the want of funds and room in the building rented, which has now every available room occupied. The City Council have approriated for the last five years $6,000 per annum toward the support of the institute, which does not meet the ex-penses. The deficit, however, is made up by membership fees and the donations weeks since, by the direction of the Board of Directors, a circular was sent to all, of the young men whose address could be procured, who had at-tended the night-school some time du-ring its thirteen years of existence, for the purpose of obtaining statistics con-cerning the career of those who have been entered on its rolls containing the

1. When did you enter the Virginia Mechanics' Institute; what was your oc-cupation at that time, and how long did What daily or weekly salary were you receiving at the time?

2. What salary has been the maximum you have received since then, and what is, or has been, your occupation?

4. Please state how much of your advancement in life you estimate as at-tributable to the instructions received at the Virginia Mechanics' Institute? SOME OF THE ANSWERS.

The following are synopses from some of the replies received:
"Entered institute in 1887, was an apprentice in the Richmond and Danville nops, remained at the institute four ears. Salary was 60 cents, 80 cents. During that time adand $1 per day. During that time advanced regularly-first, as a draughsman; second, as inspector of locomotive construction, and at present, general air-brake inspector of the Southern railway system, at a salary of a fraction less than $1.800 per year. It was from the date of my entrance in the Virginia chanics' Institute, that my success in Mechanics institute, that my success in the railroad world began, &c."

"Entered institute in 1891; remained three years; was an office-boy, etc., at a salary of 33 per week. At present a book-keeper at $50 per month; but for financial embarrassment of my employers my salary would now be ample. The my salary would now be ample. The influence of the institute and the instruction received enabled me to hold the years, and the ideas received excited the ambition to be somebody, and was the foundation of a course of study, the results of which are invaluable to me." "Entered institute October 15, 1885: mained three sessions. Salary was $25 per month; at present civil engineer; maxi-mum salary has been $110 per month. My advancement is due, principally, to the

It would be hard to estimate the good I have derived at the Virginia Machanica' Institute. Three sessions in mechanical drawing and mathematics has fitted me as a practical draughtsman, and enabled me to hold position satisfactorily. With ordiy can get as good a mechanical educa tion at this institute as can be gotten in this State. I have just refused a position offered, with more salary, away from Richmond on account of its interering with the course I am now taking "Entered institute about 1889; remained three years. My salary was about $5 per week; am now secretary to the auditor of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railway Company, at a salary of $50 per month As to my advancement, I attribute most, possibly all, to the institute, as I ob-tained employment through the officers considered that they started me on my "Entered the institute October, 1889;

"Entered October, 1886, unemployed About two months later secured a situa-tion at a nominal salary of $2 per week; m now a civil engineer, mainly in the and maintenance; maximum salary, $11 r month. In my own case the value The training hardly received a fair st. Some knowledge I gained, which has been very useful, Besides this, the echool helped me in the way of securing employment in my chosen profession.

Entered institute session of 1886-'87; time $4.50 per week; now a mechanical engineer; salary, $1,500 to $1,800 per annum. Without the advantages there gained for expressing thought, I would have been unable to make my talents of value and worthy the attention of others. While I might have gotten in-formation through other channels, the probabilities are against such supposi-tion, and I may say truthfully that I owe 50 per cent. of my value to the in-struction of the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, and to our dear friends, amongst whom I remember with great pleasure our secretary and Mr. Sheppard." "Entered institute about five years ago, studying drawing, physics, and electricity for one session; was a student at the High School at the time; my maximum salary since has been $150 per month; holding allowing positions: Chief engineer of one the principal hotels, electric engineer for the — Land Company, and general manager for my own concern—dealers in and constructors of electric apparatus." ained about two and a half sessions was a pattern-maker at the time; salary was $13 per week; maximum salary re-

I attribute a good deal the institute, as the knowledge I gain-l under the able instructors of the intitute has been the means in a great measure of my being able to fill and hold the position I now do, and have regretted my not entering the institute somer and not being able to remain longer."

"I entered the institute October, 1893; remained during that session. My occu-pation was a railroad clerk; salary, $45 per month.

"I entered the Virginia Polytechnic Institite at Blacksburg, Va., September, 1894, to take a course of civil and electrical engineering, where I am at present. I value very highly the instruction re-ceived at the Virginia Mechanics' Institute, and while I only pursued an elemen-tary course in electricity, yet I consider that it has benefited me in my further study along this line at the Virginia Poly-

"Do not know the date I entered the institute, but think it was its first ses-sion. I was attending the public schools therefore was receiving no salary. My occupation has been assistant in an archiect's office, rodman on a survey of the Richmond and Danville railroad in North Carolina, then draughtsman in the chief ngineer's office, Richmond and Danville allroad, now engineer of First Division Southern railway, Washington, D. C.; maximum salary, $125 per month. About my advancement would be rather to hard to answer, unless I should say all, as I have followed out my instructions received

"I think I entered the first year the institute was opened, and took drawing and algebra; remained abut three and a half years. My salary at first was 50 cents per day, afterwards $1. After learning my trade as a machinist I entered the drawing office of the Richmond Locemotive- and Machine-Works at $1 per day, and when I left was receiving $80 per and when I left was receiving so per month. I am now doing business as a draughtsman and engineer, and have made as much as $190 per month. The instruc-tion received at the Virginia Mechanics' Institute has been a great help to me. While I do not think I spent quite enough time with the institute, I am more than pleased with results. I think the steps in my life from machinist to mechanical draughtsman due to the institute. I was ffered a few days since a very goo sition with one of the largest railroads in the South as draughtsman."
"I entered the institute session 1893-'94,

n the electrical and mathematical classes Salary, about 88 per week. Have been in business for myself ever since. I consider that the institute has benefited me considerably, and look back upon the in-stitution with pleasure and pride. Am now one of the firm of electrical contractors in

New Orleans, La."
"I entered the institute session 1881-'85; remained four years; occupation appren-tice machinist; salary, $2.50 to $4.50 per week; advanced to machinist, machinist oreman, draughtsman, and superintendent of machine-shop; maximum salary received, $125 per month; now in business for myself. I believe without the knowledge of drawing, which was attained at the Mechanics' Institute, that I would be following the machinist trade at the present

"I entered the institute October, 1888, occupation ornamental modelling and carving, and remained two session; salary, carving, and remained two session; salary, $3.50 per day. Since then have worked by contract. Through the auspices of the Virginia Mechanics' Institute I was induced to remain in Richmond, being here on a visit. It was then my intention to go to New York and enter some art academy for the purpose of studying the human form, a branch of my profession, but form, a branch of my profession, but having learned of the facilities of the Vir-ginia Mechanics' Institute for teaching what I wanted, I decided to remain here. Through study and suggestions from the instructors I have accomplished my de sire, and have been recognized as competent by some of the leading sculptors of the United States. This I attribute to the instruction I have received at your insti-

OWES ALL TO THE INSTITUTE. "I entered the institute in January, 1887, and remained until May, 1885; occupation, none when I entered; now I am a civil engineer and superintendent; maximum salary, $80 per month. Professionally I attribute my entire advancement to the training I was able to procure at the institute."

Death of a Confederate Veteran. Francisco D. Du Sanz, generally known as Frank Carr, the name under which he enlisted, died at Lee-Camp Soldiers' Home on Friday, and was buried from Sacred-Heart church at 11 A. M. y was, in many respects, a remarkable man. Born in Lisbon some 70 years ago, he became a sailor at 14, and followed that profession almost all his life. He had reprofession almost all his life. He had re-ceived a good Christian education, and profited by it, for no day passed with him without prayer, and of the commonest vices of sallors, profanity and drunkenness, he was never guilty. Living in Southern Independence, he enlisted in the nawy of the Confederate States, and served faithfully to its end, rising to the po sition of boatswain. He served un Semmes on the Alabama and on the Vir-ginia during her fight with the Monitor and elsewhere, and always with credit and efficiency.

After the war he obtained work at the Norfolk navy-yard, where he lost a leg by an accident. Subsequently he was af-flicted with cancer, which destroyed one of his eyes, and the other became so affected that he was almost blind; yet to the very day of his death he kept his room in the best of order, scouring and scrubbing the floor as he had the ship's deck in his youthful days, so that it was a marvel to those who saw it how he managed to keep it so clean. His cheerfulness was unremitting; he attributed everything to the dispensation of Divine Providence, and accepted all that befell him with humble resignation to the will of God, awaiting his death as a happy passage from a world of trial to an eternity of happiness.

Entertain Their Friends.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Doyle, of west Clay street, tendered a most delightful and charming entertainment last Thursday night to a large number of their friend The host and hostess were assisted in re-ceiving by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hartzel and Mrs. Governator. Music, singing, and dancing were enjoyed until 12 clock, when supper was announced During the evening Professor Thomas Riley, assisted by several others, succeed ed in sending up two very large balloons. After supper the guests again assembled in the parlors, where dancing was kept up until a late hour. String music was furnished by Messrs. Strawbridge and Ragland. Among those present were Mr. Strawbridge and and Mrs. J. D. Doyle, Mrs. Governator, Mr. and Mrs. Hartzell, Mr. and Mrs George Governator, Mrs. Meyer, Misses Minnie Finigan, Rosa Duffy, Nettie Duffy, Mamie Bagley, Mamie Smith, Maggie Meyers, and Messrs, J. J. Doyle, John Raffo, William Lawrence, H. C. Epps, Christian Manning, John F. Finigan, Henry Kolbe, and Professor Thomas Riley, the balloonist.

Golden-Star Social Club.

The Golden Star Club gave a pleasant ocial at the residence of Miss Kate Kavanaugh, on Elm street, on Friday evening, and a good time was had by all. After indulging in many games refreshments were served. The club quartette furnished the music. Among those present were: Misses Josie Horan, Kate Kavanaugh, Nora O'Connell, Annie Kavanaugh, Kate O'Neill, Mary Garland, Kate Owens, and lessrs, James Horan, Thomas O'Gorman Arthur Powers, Sidney Owens, Geo Owens, Harney Hardin, Edward Sing Ben, Ryan, Thomas Welch, Edward Edwards, and Arthur Chandler.

The Fair Was a Success.

The fair held by Misses Sophie White, Eline Cowardin, Mamie Garnett, Gladys Frazier, Bessie Frazier, Laura Rutherfoord, Carrie Armistead, and Carrie Re-nolds, at the residence of Colonel C. O'B. Cowardin yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of raising money for an indigent family, was in all respects a success. The young ladies cleared $12.70 by their labors, which sum will be turned ever to the poor people. The doll raffled off was won by little Miss Mamie Davenport, two years; occupation, a general clerk; salary, 150 per annum; advanced to $20; book-keeper, present salary, $50 per month. Have kept books since 1830, and received my first instruction at the institute, and ment line that Richmond has seen for years, desire it to be known that, with the exception of a small sum used in paying off a debt on the society, the entire proceeds of the four performances given will be turned over to the Charity and Help Committee of the Broad-Street Epworth League for work among the poor worth League for work among the poor of the city. The entertainment was gotten up in the first place with that end in view, and the "Singin' Skule" folks have steadtly adhered to this purpose, and hope to be the means of relieving at least a part of the distress now so prevalent in our midst.

The Y. M. C. A. Bath-Rooms.

Within a few days the Young Men's Christian Association gymnasium will throw open the doors of the finest-equip-ped bath-rooms south of New York city. There are three tub bath-rooms and a large sponge-bath to accommodate ten persons. This room is one of the bestequipped in the building. The walls are partly of marble and the floor is cemented. The spray-rooms are fitted with the latest improvements, and the needle fixtures are perfect in every detail.

The gymnasium is fairly equipped, and it is the association's purpose to afford the opportunity of all-around development, instead of specialties. A feature of the gymnasium is the new bowling alleys, Everything is new and bright. The pins, balls, return trough, and pads are of the latest pattern.

Most Too Free with His Knife.

The ambulance was called at 10 o'clock ter Toler, a white man, had cut and dan gerously wounded in the left shoulder a negro named Jim Brown. Brown's wounds were dressed and he was taken to the almshouse, and Toler was arrested and locked up in the First Police-Station.
